How it all began . . .

In March 1945, a group of civic leaders on the island of Palm Beach felt their fundraising efforts would be more effective if they separated from the Community Chest of the Palm Beaches. They decided to establish an organization of their own, operated entirely within Palm Beach, under the sole direction of Palm Beach residents. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont was elected as the first president and the first campaign set the goal of $64,177. The campaign exceeded its goal, raising $70,575 to support 13 nonprofit agencies in Palm Beach County. Four of the original organizations are still funded by the Town of Palm Beach United Way today.

In the past 75 years the population of Palm Beach County has exploded from an estimated 100,000 in 1945 to more than 1.4 million today. Society has changed, needs have changed, but the Town of Palm Beach United Way has kept its mission of improving lives and building a stronger, healthier community for all residents. Over the years, our United Way has raised over $116 million to help those in Palm Beach County who need it the most.

TRADITION OF LEADERSHIP

The Town of Palm Beach United Way draws its strength, character, purpose, and longevity from remarkable leadership. The organization was founded on a simple concept - if everyone gives, everyone benefits. Community leaders were called upon to raise funds from friends, family, neighbors, and businesses to distribute to local charities. They saw our island United Way as a link between Palm Beach County individuals in need and Palm Beach residents who care and have the means to help. For 75 years the Town of Palm Beach United Way has remained a volunteer-driven organization, led by community leaders who give generously of their time, talent, and money. It is this proud tradition of service that will continue to propel the Town of Palm Beach United Way for generations to come.

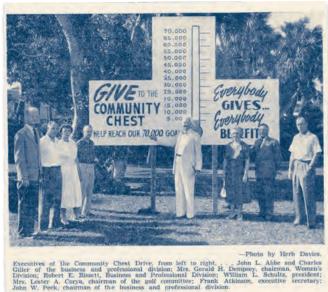

DRIVING SOCIAL CHANGE

Social needs are not the result of a single condition, but more likely reflect a combination of conditions, each of which must be addressed to bring about positive, sustainable change. The Town of Palm Beach United Way has followed this principle throughout its 75-year history. We have supported a wide array of programs that have helped infants, students, mothers, veterans, seniors, persons with disabilities, farmworkers, the uninsured and so many others. We support nonprofit agencies that touch all sectors of social need in our community, from education and mental health to homelessness and food insecurity. We create positive community impact by working together with nonprofits, businesses, and individuals to offer comprehensive social services that help the entire community, not just one person or cause.

Everybody Gives... Everybody Benefits.

The name Community Chest was widely used for United Way organizations during the early 1900s. The nation's first Community Chest was started in 1913 in Cleveland, Ohio where leaders developed a program for raising and allocating funds. Over the next four decades Community Chests began to spread nationwide, including Palm Beach County.

"Everybody Gives...Everybody Benefits" was one of the earliest slogans used by Community Chests to demonstrate the collective impact donors can make on their communities. Today, United Way still follows that basic principle – the entire community working together to advance the common good.

COMMUNITY CHEST

On March 30, 1945, a group of Palm Beach residents voted to separate from the Community Chest of the Palm Beaches and run their own Community Chest. On April 27, 1945, the Palm Beach Community Chest, Inc. was officially incorporated. By-laws were enacted that are still valid today, including that annual elections be held in April and that board meetings be scheduled from November to April. Noted society architect Marion Sims Wyeth was named as chairman of the executive committee, which was called to act on matters that came up outside of season.

The objective of the organization was set forth "to assist and harmonize the work of civic, character building, charitable and philanthropic organizations of and in the vicinity of Palm Beach."

With the war coming to an end and with no one knowing what conditions will be like during the next few years, we must have strong backing and strong thinking. We wish to co-operate with West Palm Beach, but with things rather tumultuous, we should have control over the various agencies and organizations that spring up."

Palm Beach Will Operate Its Own Community Chest

Palm Beach will operate its own Community Chest next year.

This move was decided upon yesterday at a meeting of Palm Beach residents held at the Everglades Club. Mr. Hugh Dillman presided.

The motion, which was read by Mr. James T. Roche, and which was made by Mrs. Miller and seconded by Mr. Edward G. Swenson, reads as follows:

"It is moved that the Palm Beach community shall separate itself from the Community Chest of the Palm Beaches Inc. and assume its own obligations to assist the charitable and character-building organizations in the Palm Beaches, and shall invite the Palm Beach Civic Association, Inc., to accept this responsibility as an appropriate part of its functions, by establishing the proper organization for fund raising and distribution."

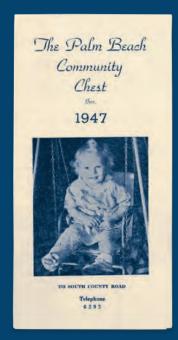

Chairman Dillman, upon calling the meeting to order, announced the purpose of the gathering and then read letters from Edward F.

The National War Fund was created in 1943 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to allow every American a chance to donate towards wartime needs. The fund raised money to support the welfare of U.S. fighting forces and overseas humanitarian efforts.

Every One's Best Will Fill the Chest.

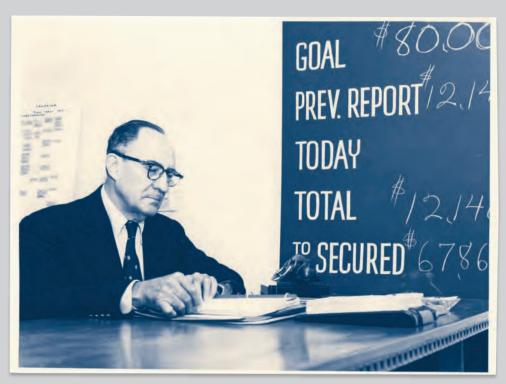

The Palm Beach Community Chest experienced significant growth in the 1950s, in terms of dollars raised, board leadership and volunteer participation.

"Every One's
Best Will Fill the Chest" was the campaign slogan for 1952. The focus continued to be on health, youth development and family welfare.

Chairman C. Markham Langham leads a board of trustees meeting at the Palm Beach Community Chest headquarters at 273 South County Road in Palm Beach. Mr. Langham was the longest serving Chairman of the Board, beginning in 1953 and ending in 1966.

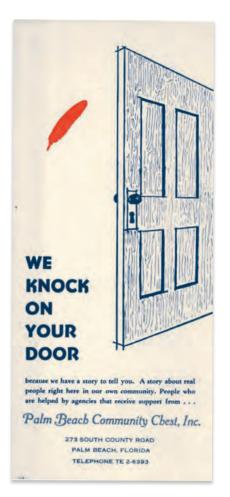

In 1954, Campaign Chairman Jessie L. Terry set the fundraising goal at $80,000. Each year, the bar continued to be set a little higher. During this time period, primary fundrasing for the Palm Beach Community Chest was limited to just a few weeks, usually beginning and ending in February.

During the 1956-1957 fundraising cycle, led by devoted volunteers who would often go door-to-door soliciting funds, the Palm Beach Community Chest reached its first $100,000 campaign.

During this decade, campaign volunteers became crucial to the success of the organization. New fundraising divisions and special committees were formed to increase donor giving.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD SOLICITATION DIVISION

The Neighborhood Solicitation Division separated into teams based on the town's layout and focused on door-to-door fundraising.

SPECIAL EVENTS COMMITTEE

The Special Events Committee organized a yearly tag day benefit at the Palm Beach Golf Club where members collected special subscriptions from spectators.

SPECIAL BENEFIT COMMITTEE

The Special Benefit Committee held an annual dinner dance at the Palm Beach Country Club. Funds raised from the dance accounted for about 25 percent of the campaign goal.

When someone irks about his seat
We'd like to mention it's a task
To please all people when they ask.
We praise the day when some inventor
Will plan a ballroom all dead center
In short a room so well designed
There's none in front and none behind
Again you ask to sit with pals
That's bad-but please believe we've tried
To keep our guests satisfied
Remember this-we break our backs
So, please sit back-have fun - relax!
Thank you,
THE COMMITTEE.

SPECIAL GIFTS DIVISION

The Special Gifts Division oversaw securing individual donations from Palm Beach donors. Their efforts accounted for more than half of the total dollars raised. Division chairmen provided regular updates on campaign fundraising progress.

The Red Feather Campaign Begins.

In the 1960s, the Palm Beach Community Chest's annual fundraising campaign began to be known as the "Red Feather Campaign." A red feather campaign board was displayed near Town Hall in Palm Beach and regular red feather ads were run in the local newspaper. The campaign goal continued to increase each year. Funds raised during the campaign were allocated entirely to local service agencies. No funds were used to support state or national organizations, a policy that still holds true today.

Pictured below are Chest volunteers posing with actress Faye Emerson who appeared in "The Matchmaker" at the Royal Poinciana Playhouse in 1963. Luncheons and tea parties also became common fundraising tools.

John F. Kennedy United States President

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy praised the Palm Beach Community Chest in a letter to C. Markham Langham, president of the Chest. The Kennedy family owned a home in Palm Beach, which became the winter White House once John F. Kennedy was elected president.

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

January 25, 1963

Dear Mr. Langham:

I am happy to extend my best wishes for your 1963 Community Chest Drive, which I understand is to start on February first.

I have long been aware of the splendid services rendered the Palm Beach community by the twelve agencies supported by the Chest. The good works performed by these agencies -- in medicine, youth work and welfare -- are appreciated by all of us concerned with Palm Beach.

Mrs. Kennedy joins me in wishing you success in your drive and in the continuation of the worthy activities of the Community Chest.

Sincerely,

Mr. C. Markham Langham President

COMMUNITY CHEST GROWTH

As the Palm Beach population increased, so did The Commuity Chest fundraising goals, leading the organization to separate its Special Gifts section into Division A and Division B. A Ladies' Committee and a Palm Beach Country Club committee were added as well. The Palm Beach Country Club remains a significant contributor, with its members generously giving $1,500 or more annually to the campaign.

Community Chest funds benefited 14 agencies throughout much of the 1960s. But, with the population of Palm Beach County increasing each year, more and more service agencies were in need of Community Chest aid. And in 1969, the Palm Beach Community Chest was able to add four new agencies.

Give. Invest. Volunteer. Endorse.

The Palm Beach Community Chest experienced organizational stability and increased volunteer engagement in the 1970s.

Frances Watkins was executive director of the Palm Beach Community Chest throughout the 1970s. She served in the role for 14 years and was employed by the organization for 23 years. Here she is seen reviewing agency funding requests with the Chest's Budget Committee.

Funding Requests Reviewed

The Palm Beach Community Chest's Budget Committee is conducting hearings through the month of March to review requests from local charity agencies for allocated funds. Each group that is part of the Community Chest's "family" sends a representative to the committee and their budgets are considered, according to current needs of the organization. There are litteen such agencies that benefit from the fund-raising drive of the Palm Beach Community Chest. They are: Boy Scouts, Camp Shalom, Catholic Services Bureau, Children's Home Society, Crippled Children's Society, Family Counseling Center, Girl Scouts, Mental Health Association, Opportunity, Inc., Palm Beach Community Chest Inc., Association for Retarded Citizens, The Salvation Army, Visiting Nurse Association, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.

The Budget Committee of the "Chest" consists of Palm Beach residents who volunteer their services to the agency. The Chairman is George M. Dee and committee members are, Merrill L. Band, W. Julian Field, Karl Oskar Gren, George W. Hersey, Allan B. Lane, Emile L. Schmidt and Thaddeus H. Trout.

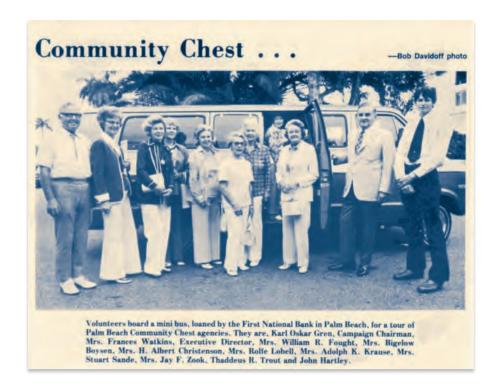

"The response to the drive has been very good and both permanent and winter residents of Palm Beach have shown great interest in the goals of the Community Chest," states Chairman Dee. "We are now within 83% of our aim of $225,000 and hope to go over the top this year."

George W. Hersey, a prominent Palm Beach attorney and judge, was elected president in 1971 and served 8 years, the second longest tenure in Palm Beach Community Chest history. Here he poses in front of the Red Feather goal meter.

Under Hersey's leadership, 17 charities received Community Chest funding.

Volunteer fundraising committees continued to be vital to the success of the Palm Beach Community Chest. During this time the organization had at least 250 volunteers.

Never before have I come in contact with so many generous people who often volunteer to contribute long before being asked. Recently we conducted a tour of our agencies. It was an experience that makes a long and lasting impression. It makes one realize that every contribution is much needed and put to the greatest possible use."

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

A focus on personal touch, through phone calls, letters, and handwritten notes, was crucial to fundraising. It's a quality that the Town of Palm Beach United Way still values today.

Community Chest adds "United Way."

In 1984, following a national movement to use a consistent name, the Palm Beach Community Chest added United Way to its name.

1984

The number of volunteer workers and partner agencies increased throughout the 1980s. At least eight organizations were added as partner agencies, including several that focused on drug treatment and rehabilitation.

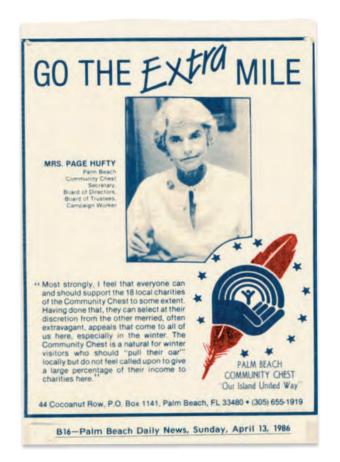

Volunteers Back Community Chest

Did you ever wonder who runs the United Way campaign in Palm Beach?

Local volunteers serving on committees and boards of the Palm Beach Community Chest include Michael Page, John Brogan, Daniel Hanley, Doyle Rogers, Nathan Appleman, Merrill Bank, Frances Hufty, Donald Spigler, John McDowell and the Irving Smiths.

"These people and hundreds more are busy, even now, with preparations for the United Way Palm Beach solicitation," said a Community Chest spokesman. "Community Chest brochures, including a financial report of last year's campaign, will be mailed to Palm Beach residents in late November for the benefit of those who prefer to make a contribution before the end of the current tax year."

A12-Palm Beach Daily News, Sunday, November 7, 1982

President Reagan's United Way Message

Tonight as we kick off the more than 2,000 United Way campaigns across the nation, I invite you to join in celebrating the United Way's centennial — from 1887 to 1987 — 100 years of service, commitment and caring.

Nancy and I are honored to be the honorary chairs for this United Way centennial. Along with United Way volunteers across the nation, we are celebrating an American tradition that has been so much a part of our way of life.

The more than 37,000 humancare agencies which the United Way supports exemplify the finest attributes of the human spirit. In thousands of communities, large and small, United Way has mobilized our citizens, building better communities and a stronger nation.

What is emerging in America today is an effective partnership that includes the voluntary sector, the government and the corporate community. Government alone cannot, and should not, do all things for all people. The business community can help, yet business must focus on their primary responsibility, producing America's goods and services.

The voluntary sector, America's third force, works with both business and government to help those in need and organize community building programs. That's where the United Way comes in. It has been and continues to be a vehicle for people in their communities and neighborhoods to solve problems and help each other in a planned accountable way.

We Americans have always recounted on each other, always relied on our family, friends and neighbors to solve problems and meet challenges in our communities. This has been the case, not because a government mandates it, but because we genuinely care about each other.

Of course, today, the United Way does more than just provide assistance to those at the bottom of the income scale, as important as that is. An elderly person may not be destitute but may need a volunteer friend to drop in or call to say "hello."

The United Way, in so many ways, is needed more than ever. And it is rising to meet its challenge. A dramatic Second Century Initiative is under way to increase the level of service by doubling the United Way's financial resources and the number of volunteers. The United Way is asking those who give to give more; asking those who have not given, who have not volunteered, who have not been part of the team, to join us in investing in a better, more humane community. a better, more humane America.

I found that when people understand the United Way, they want to give — that's why, over the years, Nancy and I have tried to tell the United Way story. We've been joined by the stars of the National Football League through those public service spots that are showing during NFL

Through those spots, we have seen the face of United Way close up. There are stories like that of Rodney and Melissa Smith. They were told that their beautiful little baby girls had brain damage. When the Smiths turned to a United Way agency, what they found there was hope. Together with the United Way, the Smith family won tiny little victories, and built a more meaningful life for their a little way.

Those victories are part of a larger celebration. You see, while United Way celebrates its 100th year, it is also gearing up for a second century of service, a second century of caring.

I am confident that magnificent spirit of caring and volunteerism that exemplifies United Way's first 100 years will continue. Americans of character and compassion will continue to come forward, and do their part.

The goodwill among us underscores the values of free men and women. We Americans come from every corner of the world, of every race and religion. Yet, we care about one another. In 1987, United Way of America celebrated its centennial anniversary. President Ronald Reagan recognized the occasion with a proclamation thanking United Way volunteers for a century of service.

SECOND CENTURY INITIATIVE

As part of United Way "Second Century Initiative" the Palm Beach Community Chest/United Way developed a fiveyear plan to double the organization's financial resources, double the number of volunteer workers and increase the number of agencies by 1991. President Doyle Rogers had this message for residents and businesses:

The mission of the Palm Beach Community Chest/United Way is to help people, communitywide, improve their quality of life. This mission is accomplished through a united effort of caring citizens and human service agencies, based on volunteerism. The new national theme, 'United Way – It Brings Out The Best In All Of Us,' says that United Way is more than just a way to give, it is a way to care."

LEADERSHIP GIVING

To help accomplish this goal of increasing financial resources, the Palm Beach Chest/United Way decided to add membership societies to recognize high-level giving. In 1987, the organization established the Red Feather Society. Helen Messic was founder and first chair of the society. Membership is for donors who give $1,000 or more annually.

Ned Cook To Chair Tocqueville Society

Edward W. "Ned" Cook of Palm Beach, international businessman/financier, has accepted the chairmanship of the 'new' Alexis de Tocqueville Society, announced Doyle Rogers, president of the Palm Beach Community Chest/United Way.

Rogers said, "The organization of this prestigious leadership group will be a first for Palm Beach. It gives me great pleasure to make this announcement at our "Thank You Celebration" planned by the committee members of our Red Feather Society."

He continued, "Ned Cook will chair our local Chapter of the Alexis de Tocqueville Society."

The National Society was created in 1972 by the United Way of America to recognize persons who have rendered outstanding service as volunteers in their own community or nationally. The name was chosen because of Alexis de Tocqueville's admiration for the spirit of voluntary association and voluntary effort for the common good, a spirit he had observed in America and about which he wrote on many occasions.

Edward W. "Ned" Cook is Chairman, president, and chief executive officer, Cook International Inc. Palm Beach, and director of the First Tennessee National Corporation. The Alexis de Tocqueville Society was established in 1988 with Pat and Ned Cook serving as its first chairmen. The Tocqueville Society recognizes exceptional community leaders who donate $10,000 or more annually to the campaign.

An Era of Milestones.

The Palm Beach Community Chest/United Way reached several milestones in the 1990s, including celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1995.

The organization added to the Tocqueville Society in the 1990s by incorporating the annual Alexis de Tocqueville Distinguished Citizen Award, the organization's highest volunteer honor.

ALEXIS DE TOCQUEVILLE SOCIETY

The Alexis de Tocqueville Society continued to expand throughout the 1990s. Palm Beach led the nation in per-capita United Way giving and received several fundraising awards from the United Way of America.

In 1991, the elite "La Societe Nationale" was established for people who donate $100,000 to $250,000 annually. Betty and Francis Guyott became its first members.

Tocqueville giving was boosted by several substantial challenge grants, including $500,000 from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. Ruth and Ed Hennessy, past chairmen of the Tocqueville Society, contributed $1 million to the Palm Beach Community Chest/United Way Endowment Fund, helping cover administrative and fundraising costs so the organization could become self-sufficient.

ALEXIS DE TOCQUEVILLE DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN AWARD

The Distinguished Citizen Award was added in 1990. The award is presented annually to an individual or couple who

In the 1990s, the annual campaign kicked off with a Residential Luncheon. Past speakers include Ambassador Nancy Brinker, Justice Sandra Day O'Connor and Cliff Robertson.

Live United.

The Palm Beach Community Chest/ United Way again changed its name in 2006, this time to Town of Palm Beach United Way. This followed the national trend of Community Chests unifying behind the United Way brand.

The new Town of Palm Beach United Way logo featured a "helping hand," under a rainbow, with symbolized humanity at the center.

During the 2000s, the Town of Palm Beach United Way started using the national "Live United" motto. "Live United" speaks to the core of United Way's philosophy. It's the directive to work together to improve the common good within our community.

Now, the Palm Beach Community Chest/United Way has been touched by the Shapiro largesse. Anita Hamilton, chairwoman of the Palm Beach Community Chest, has announced a $1 million gift from the Shapiros.

"We got stuck with all this money." Carl Shapiro said, laughing. "But really, we're trying to do more and more in Palm Beach. We think it's the right thing to do. We're residents here, and we wanted to help as many people as possible. The Community Chest scemed to be the way to do that. It's a great organization."

Nettie Finkle is a woman who excelled at nearly everything she ever attempted. So when she retired to Palm Beach and started taking an art class at the Norton, the truth hit her hard.

"I was no Grandma Moses," she told 400 people gathered Tuesday at The Breakers. "So, I said to myself: 'Retirement's over, time to go back to work.'"

Finkle was the guest speaker at the annual luncheon for the Palm Beach Community Chest/ United Way's annual residential campaign. The luncheon took place in the Venetian Ballroom of The Breakers.

IN GOOD COMPANY

The Town of Palm Beach United Way's Business and Professional Committee was active throughout the 2000s. The Business and Professional Campaign collects corporate gifts and employee donations from businesses in Palm Beach, South Palm Beach and Manalapan.

Over the years, several Palm Beach business professionals have served on the Town of Palm Beach United Way's Board of Trustees and various committees.

The Breakers Palm Beach has been a contributor for 30 years and donated over $2 million to the Town of Palm Beach United Way. Paul Leone, President of The Breakers, has served the Town of Palm Beach United Way in a variety of roles, including Chairman of the Business and Professional Committee and Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Publix is United Way's No. 1 Global Corporate Leader. Each year Publix and its employees donate thousands to the Town of Palm Beach United Way's Annual Campaign. Much of the funds come from employee payroll deductions, demonstrating each workers extraordinary commitment to making a difference in their local communities.

LOYAL CONTRIBUTORS

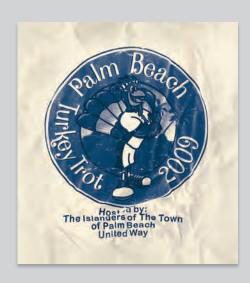

By 2009, the campaign received more than 1,500 individual donations each year. Hundreds of Palm Beach families have been loyal contributors to the Town of Palm Beach United Way for decades.

By the end of the decade, donations to the United Way helped fund 46 organizations that provided a variety of social services to Palm Beach County.

TURKEY TROT

The inaugural Turkey Trot race took place in 2009 and had a few dozen participants. It now has 1,400 participants and has become a Thanksgiving Day tradition in Palm Beach. It is organized by the Islanders Committee, a group of young professionals looking to make a difference in the community. Proceeds from the race help provide meals to families in need.

The campaign hit a new milestone, raising over $5 million in 2012. The United Way surpassed the $5 million mark four times in the decade.

In the 2010s, the Business and Professional Breakfast was the event that kick started the Town of Palm Beach United Way campaign. Each year, 1,400 employees and 100 companies give to the campaign.

Two new collection drives were created in the 2010s, the Boxed for Success School Supply Drive and the Empty Your Pantry Food Drive. The Holiday Toy Drive had already been established for several years.

The Town of Palm Beach United Way broke campaign fundraising records several times throughout the 2010s. Since 1945, the organization has raised over $116 million for the needs of Palm Beach County.

Several new partner agencies were added in the 2010s. The locations of the new agencies spanned across Palm Beach County, from Jupiter to Belle Glade to Boca Raton. As many as 50 organizations have been partners at one time.

United Way adds partners

The Town of Palm Beach United Way has joined with the Center for Child Counseling Inc. and Palm Beach County Food Bank as partner agencies.

The Center for Child Counseling provides onsite mental health programs at child care centers for children, teachers and caregivers. The Palm Beach County Food Bank has so far given close to 5 million pounds of food in the 2013-14 fiscal year.

ALLOCATION COMMITTEE

As the number of Town of Palm Beach United Way partner agencies increased, so did the number of volunteers on the Allocation Committee.

The allocation process is the cornerstone of the Town of Palm Beach United Way. The Allocation Committee consists of diverse community volunteers who serve as the eyes and ears of thousands of donors. Each year, allocation volunteers are charged with reviewing grant applications and making funding recommendation to the Board of Trustees. Volunteers spend months examining applications, analyzing financial data, visiting partner agencies, interviewing agency staff and board members, and assessing community needs. The process ensures accountability for all agencies receiving Town of Palm Beach United Way funds.

HIGH MARKS FOR GROWTH & DIVERSITY

The Town of Palm Beach United Way employed 4 full-time staff for most of the decade. President and CEO Beth Walton received the Palm Beach Civic Association's Bill Brooks Community Service Award in 2017 for her leadership and dedication to the community. Walton has served the United Way since 1995 and has been CEO since 2009. Under her leadership, the organization has consistently received high marks from charity rating organizations such as GuideStar and Charity Navigator.
